

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Media Contact:

Caryn Smith

Driven By Design • PR & Marketing

239-225-6137

Caryn@WildlifeEducationProject.org

RE: Wildlife Education Project

Local Celebrity Animal to be featured on National Television Network Nat Geo WILD

Video Clips highlight Nat Geo WILD's airing of Trouper the Blind Raccoon and his caregiver Dorothy "Dot" Lee

FORT MYERS, Fla. (May 5, 2016) – Contained below are links to useable video clips on the segment of for use on television and social media for an episode highlighting Trouper the Blind Raccoon and Animal Ambassador, along with his caregiver Dorothy "Dot" Lee, will appear in an episode of "Unlikely Animal Friends" on Saturday, May 21 at 8/7c PM on Nat Geo WILD, where their unusual relationship will be highlighted. "Unlikely Animal Friends" will feature footage that captures Trouper's role in providing educational presentations to children, as well as scenes of his daily life with Lee.

The following language has been required by Nat Geo WILD in relation to the airing of these segments:

"Trouper will be making his National TV debut on "Unlikely Animal Friends" at 8/7c on Saturday, May 21 on Nat Geo WILD"

Just click the links and the video will download:

CLIP 1:

<http://files.natgeonetworks.com/T05uvjt1e-5SCR>

CLIP 2:

<http://files.natgeonetworks.com/0F5novlfr-bs9R>

The WEP is a non-profit organization with the vision to instill a lifelong respect for all living things and the environment through our mission of education and empowerment of human kind to create change and take responsibility for the protection of our wildlife and surroundings. www.wildlifeeducationproject.org, www.trouperraccoon.com and www.facebook.com/Wildlifeeducationproject

While Trouper is a living 7-year-old raccoon, he is not a pet nor is he wild. He is a federally licensed and fully vaccinated wildlife ambassador for WEP, an organization that teaches the public and school children through their educational sessions, website and materials to treat wildlife, the environment and all living things with respect. “

###